cities of tomorrow

Date:

27 June 2016

Location:

---

Brussels

CEPS and Energy Cities have the pleasure of welcoming you to the second of two workshops that will bring together EU stakeholders to discuss how to make post-carbon cities a reality.

The workshops will focus on preparing a high level document or ‘roadmap’ for policymakers to offer recommendations on how to plan for long term impacts, with the aim to achieve by 2050 liveable post-carbon cities, i.e. economically robust, environmentally resilient, providing high quality of life and socially inclusive.

The first workshop discussed the contents and structure of the document with stakeholders, built on the work already undertaken. In the 2nd workshop a draft final document will be presented and discussed, aiming for a final document that participants can endorse. The meeting will be highly interactive, consisting of collaborative group work and facilitated discussion between participants.
